

DESCRIPTIVE ABSTRACT

The object of the invention is an operating device for the controlled swinging of a portion of a cut tree trunk,
5 comprising at least one slot (44), characterized in that it comprises a body (10) provided with a screw thread (18), a head (12) movable in rotation relative to this body (10) and means (16) for driving the body (10) by the head (12).

10 Figure 1